26/1/15	Author: Derek Mahon	Before the first visitor comes the Spring Softening the sharp air of the coast In time for the first 'invasion'.
		Today the place is as it might have been, Gentle and almost hospitable. A girl Strides past the Northern Counties Hotel,
		Light-footed, swinging a boot bag, And the doors that were shut all winter Against the north wind and the sea mist
		Lie open to the street, where one By one the gulls go window-shopping And an old wolfhound dozes in the sun.
		While I sit with my paper and prawn chowmei Under a framed photograph of Hong Kong The proprietor of the Chinese restaurant
		Stands at the door as if the world were young Watching the first yacht hoist a sail And the light of heaven upon the mountains
		of Donegal And whistles a little tune dreaming of home.

4/2/16	Kerry	My lasting memory of Portrush will be going to Barry's at the end of the Summer with my Dad. The noise, the smell, the excitement. And it's still the same - well the smell and the noise anyway!
4.2.16	Francesca.	Playhouse Cinema, Arcadia, Sandhills, all ^{bring} fond memories of sharing the finest Concorde with friends. That and playing the 2p slots at Barry's as a kid.
4-2-16	John (John Allen)	Portrush was always the top holiday spot in NI. If you missed a visit to Barry's it was worth coming again just to visit it. I remember the Gardens outside Barry's with the little trains and cars such nice that today.
4.2.16	Pamela Allen re Mum: daad.	I remember coming to Portrush on the steam Trains. What fun. Coming with family & friends on the Sunday School Excursions Rain or Shine we loved it all!
10/2/16	Indy McIntyre-Read.	Loved your black board!!

4/2/16	Cherry Davidson	Best memories of Portrush for me are from the summers of my youth - Carraigout in the sandhills before making our way up the road to Kellys. In my rose-tinted memory it was never cold and never rained!
8.2.16	Bleeker	Very good, lovely outlook.
11/2/16	Puffins	Beachcombers at the Arcadia The Arcadia with the row of rusty shops The old wooden bridge with the tram tracks at the Harbour The Lobster Pot (now below Ramore Head Bar). It had lovely Clandy Stone which is now painted white. The Alpha Bar on a Saturday night: you knew it was time to go when Mrs Mullan came in to clean accompanied by Borna the dog. Looking for rare pulls off Ramore Head The Caring College: lovely food, far too much glassware
26.2.16	Mereers.	Lovely coffee + traybake Teiletz - not impressive!!
