Partition in Ireland: Partition of Ulster

1919 – 1922 EVENTS
From sources at the time

Exploring the Causeway connections with the seismic changes occurring across the island of Ireland 1919 - 1922 through local newspapers, diaries and museum collections.
The legacy of Peace IV should be that we, as a wider community feel comfortable to explore, discuss and debate our past, present and future as well as being well enough informed to appreciate and to listen to each other's stories.

The impact of the Peace IV Understanding Our Area Programme has been that we have learned from each other and are more confident in appreciating other people’s heritage and identity without feeling that it any way impacts upon our own.

More importantly as our society continues to diversify, we are acutely aware that shared history, heritage and stories are an important tool which we can use to include those people, groups or individuals who do not identify with the two ‘traditional tribal communities’ here.

This exhibition which is part of Council’s programme for Decade of Centenaries, is a culmination of gathering local stories, accounts and testimonies relating to 1919 - 1922. We hope that in the same way the local voices help us understand our past, that the experiences of the Peace Programmes can be highlighted for future generations to witness in the next century.

Peace IV Chairperson
Councillor Orla Beattie

As part of the PEACE IV Understanding Our Area Programme, research was conducted into local newspapers and other sources to reveal local connections relating to pivotal events shaping life throughout the island of Ireland between 1919 - 1922. This booklet provides a timeline of events across the Causeway area during this period, with information provided by that research, to accompany the travelling exhibition Partition in Ireland: Partition of Ulster.

For sources used please refer to page 20 & 21. For more information on the Peace IV Understanding Our Area Programme and our Decade of Centenaries work, please go to our website www.niarchive.org
Recurrence of “Flu” Epidemic In Coleraine.

There has been an alarming recurrence of the influenza epidemic in Coleraine within the past fortnight. Numerous cases have been reported, and on Wednesday afternoon the same time as witnessed in Killowen Parish Churchyard.

pathetic spectacle of a mother and daughter being interred at January 18th, 1919.

Coleraine Chronicle

Events organised in other towns follow.

Trench) and Ballymoney (Mrs Armour).

Receptions held for local ex-Prisoners

c.16 January

Limonady Welcome Home for returned soldiers organised by Catherine Anne Swetenham Trench MBE.

of Limavady Museum.

KEY EVENTS

1919

January 1919

Early January

Engineers, shipyard workers, gas workers and electricity station workers in Belfast strike for 44 hour working week.

21 January

Cart carrying gelignite for a quarry is ambushed at Solohedbeg, Co. Tipperary. Two Royal Irish Constabulary (RIC) policemen (both Catholics) guarding the gelignite are shot dead. This act is regarded as launching the Irish War of Independence/Anglo-Irish War.

21 January

The First Dáil Éireann opens in the Mansion House, Dublin. A Declaration of Independence is issued, reiterating the original 1916 Proclamation of an Irish Republic.

25 January

Belfast strikers, including gas and electricity workers, smash windows of shops that are continuing to use gas and electricity. The strike action results in some shops that are continuing to use gas and electricity.

The strike action results in the army occupies the gasworks and electricity station in the city; by the following Thursday the strike has collapsed. March 1919

18 March

Polling for the North Derry by-election, won by Mr Hugh Barrie, has taken place during which is reported to be a severe bout of influenza. In the same month National Schools in Belfast would be closed and calls for people in Derry to be compelled to wear masks as a ‘flu’ prevention measure. Dr Boylan in Ballycastle records that he called for another measure. Dr Boylan in Ballycastle records that he called for another measure.

28 June

The Versailles Peace Treaty between Germany and the Allies is signed at the Palace of Versailles, near Paris. Chief architects of the Treaty are British Prime Minister David Lloyd George, French Prime Minister Georges Clemenceau and American President Woodrow Wilson. The signing of the Treaty consolidates the ending of World War One. Bonar Law, whose father lived in Portrush, is in attendance.

28 June

Versailles Treaty marks official end of WWI.

20 March

A local Branch of the Soldiers’ and Sailors’ Federation is formed at Articlave.

23 March

Meetings are held in the grounds of the Catholic Churches in Limavady, Magilligan and Ballykelly to protest against the treatment of Irish political prisoners (in Belfast Prison) by the British Government.

April 1919

1 April

Eamon de Valera is elected President.

June 1919

1 June

De Valera leaves Ireland for a tour of the United States to gain recognition for Irish Independence and to gather American support and funding for the Irish cause. He is to remain in America until December 23, 1920.

February 1919

3 February

Eamon de Valera escapes from Lincoln Jail.

14 February

In response to the Belfast strike, the army occupies the gasworks and electricity station in the City; by the following Thursday the strike has collapsed.

March 1919

18 March

Polling for the North Derry by-election, won by Mr Hugh Barrie, has taken place during which is reported to be a severe bout of influenza. In the same month National Schools in Belfast would be closed and calls for people in Derry to be compelled to wear masks as a ‘flu’ prevention measure. Dr Boylan in Ballycastle records that he called for another measure.

28 June

The Versailles Peace Treaty between Germany and the Allies is signed at the Palace of Versailles, near Paris. Chief architects of the Treaty are British Prime Minister David Lloyd George, French Prime Minister Georges Clemenceau and American President Woodrow Wilson. The signing of the Treaty consolidates the ending of World War One. Bonar Law, whose father lived in Portrush, is in attendance.
19 August 1919

The Land Settlement (Facility) Act (1919) is passed in the UK, to allow local authorities to provide small-holdings and allotments to war veterans.

20 August

Dáil Éireann passes a Motion that Irish Volunteers and Dáil Officials must swear an Oath of Allegiance to the Irish Republic and to the Dáil.

19 December

A Post of the Comrades of the Great War is formed at a meeting of demobilised sailors and soldiers in the Town Hall, Coleraine.

Summer

The number of attacks by Irish Volunteers and Dáil Officials on RIC barracks in various parts of the country continues to increase.

19 July 1919

Sinn Féin, Irish Volunteers, Cumann na mBan and the Gaelic League are declared illegal in Co. Tipperary. This prohibition later extends to other areas.

19 January 1920

Recruitment for ‘Black and Tans’ begins.

2 January

First enrolments of the ‘Black and Tans’ to reinforce the RIC. Recruits include English ex-soldiers.

20 March

Scavengers employed by Coleraine Urban District Council go on strike for a wage increase of 10s. per week.

17 April

At the inquest into the death of Tomás MacCurtain, a jury returns a verdict of wilful murder deemed to have been carried out by members of the RIC, under the direction of the British Government. British Prime Minister Lloyd George, Lord French and other members of the British Establishment are named as culpable in MacCurtain’s murder.

31 March

The Second Reading of The Government of Ireland Bill (also known as the Fourth Home Rule Bill) in the House of Commons. It passes by 548 votes to 94.

April 1920

Around 200 Ballymoney labourers, members of National Amalgamated Union of Labour (N.A.U.L.) go on strike. Striking Portrush labourers and masons return to work around the middle of the month.

Black and Tans

Sinn Féin, Irish Volunteers, Cumann na mBan and the Gaelic League are declared illegal in Co. Tipperary. This prohibition later extends to other areas. The Land Settlement (Facility) Act 1919 becomes law, to facilitate the provision of houses and small-holdings for ex-servicemen in Ireland.

Reports that a new strain of ‘flu was emerging just when the earlier version was losing its virulence.
April - May

130 members are enrolled.

(N.A.U.L) is formed at Ballycastle.

Amalgamated Union of Labour

A branch of the National

27 April

have eventually reached 40.

the toll continues to rise, and is said to imposed on June 26. But even with one incident. Fierce rioting breaks scuffle between rival factions on

(UVF) mounts roadblocks. After a and a Catholic ex-soldier is also between police and the IRA on Londonderry on April 17-18, after

Violence erupts in Derry/

27 May

The Holyhead cargo sailings are

20 May

The Holyhead cargo sailings are disrupted because of a Dublin dockers’ strike, as they refuse to handle munitions for the Crown Forces in Ireland. They are soon to be joined by others, especially the railway workers of the Irish Transport and General Workers Union. Dockers at Coleraine hold up the export of pork, butter and other farm produce. A resolution of approval for this action is approved at a meeting of Coleraine and District Trades and Labour Council (prices for bacon and butter etc. are considered too high locally).

c.2A May

Stokers, drawers and yardmen employed at Coleraine municipal gasworks go out on strike, refusing concessions offered by the Urban Council. The strike is short-lived.

27 May

The well-known Sinn Féin solicitor, Louis J. Walsh, is greeted with hostility when he attempts to hold a campaign speech in Ballymoney. He is a candidate in the forthcoming County Council elections. He receives minor injuries and requires a police escort through the crowd.

May

Miss C. E. Hamilton of Portrush Urban District Council, is appointed as a magistrate. The Coleraine Chronicle reports that Miss Hamilton was the first woman in Ireland to have been elected to the Chair of an Urban Council.

20 May

The Ulster Volunteer Force revived.

July

Belfast shipyard expulsions of Catholics and ‘disloyal Protestants’.

August

Belfast trade boycott of British interests.

June 1920

4 June

Almost 200 weavers and spinners from Grubb’s Factory in Coleraine strike. As a result the mechanics, tenders and heddlers are left without employment.

Shirt-cutters from Rogers’ Factory in Coleraine go out on strike soon after, demanding a wage increase.

25 June

The Ulster Unionist Council revives the UVF in response to IRA attacks within Ulster. In early July the Council would appoint Lieutenant Colonel Willfrid Spender as Officer Commanding.

July 1920

12 July

Sir Edward Carson, addressing Orangemen at Finaghy, Belfast, warns that if the British Government is unable to protect Northern Unionists from ‘the machinations of Sinn Féin’, then ‘we will take the matter into our own hands. We will reorganise’.

21-24 July

Sectarian disturbances erupt in Belfast; Catholics and Socialists are expelled from shipyards and engineering works by Unionist workers. Troops carrying shipyard workers are stoned as they pass Short Strand. In the riots that follow seven Catholics and six Protestants are killed (Bardon 1992, p471).

August 1920

9 August

The Restoration of Order (Ireland) Act is passed in response to the collapsing British Administration in Ireland. It receives Royal Assent on August 13. The Act is an extension of the Defence of the Realm regulations to allow for the replacement of trial by jury with Court-Martial in areas where the IRA is most active, with the proviso that the Court must include at least one properly qualified legal official in any case involving the death penalty.
1920

c.9 August
Week resumes at Gribbon’s Factory Coleraine after the strike there ends. It had lasted for more than nine weeks. The workers arrive at their own settlement without interference from their employers.

12 August
Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork and Commandant of Cork No. 1 Brigade of the IRA, is arrested by the British Military on a charge of possessing an RIC secret cipher. He begins a hunger strike in protest, and is transferred to Brixton Jail on August 17.

22 - 31 August
The IRA assassinate RIC District Inspector Oswald Swanzy as he leaves church in Lisburn, and is implicated in the murder of Tomás MacCurtain in Cork in March. Swanzy had been at their own settlement without interference from their employers.

September 1920

c.8 September
A party of 20 men raid the police barracks in Ballycastle and carry off arms and ammunition, hand grenades and Verey lights (flares).

Summer
A majority of local Councils and Poor Law Boards (outside Ulster) agree to transfer their allegiance from the established local government board to Dáil Éireann. (Ref: A New History of Ireland IV, p243).

c.29 August
A party of 20 men raid the police barracks in Ballycastle and carry off arms and ammunition, hand grenades and Verey lights.

Summer/Autumn
Attacks and reprisals carried out by members of the IRA and the Black and Tans.

September 1920

25 October
Terence MacSwiney, Mayor of Cork, dies in an English jail after 74 days on hunger strike.

28 October
The Ballymoney Free Press reports that Dáil Éireann has sent an order (read at a recent meeting of Ballycastle Guardians) for a complete severance of relations with the English Local Government Board. Some of the members propose to comply, but the majority vote against it and the motion is lost.

October 1920

1 November
Kearney Barry, a Dublin student, is hanged for his part in the murder of RIC men.

1 November
Enrolment for an Ulster Special Constabulary officially begins. There are to be three categories: A Specials (full-time, paid); B Specials (part-time, unpaid); C Specials (reserves who could be called out in emergencies).

“We, in our turn, raided the homes of both Protestant and Catholic parents whose sons had joined, or were about to join, the Ulster Specials."

21 November
Michael Collins, Director of Intelligence of the IRA, dispatches members of his execution squad to assassinate a number of British intelligence agents in Dublin. Eleven agents, and two Auxiliaries who had attempted to intervene, are shot dead. That afternoon British forces (Auxiliaries & Black and Tans) retaliate by firing into the crowd at the Dublin-Tipperary Gaelic Football final in Croke Park, Dublin, killing 12 people and wounding an estimated 60 more. The day is known as ‘Bloody Sunday’.

1920

c.9 August
Week resumes at Gribbon’s Factory Coleraine after the strike there ends. It had lasted for more than nine weeks. The workers arrive at their own settlement without interference from their employers.

12 August
Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork and Commandant of Cork No. 1 Brigade of the IRA, is arrested by the British Military on a charge of possessing an RIC secret cipher. He begins a hunger strike in protest, and is transferred to Brixton Jail on August 17.

22 - 31 August
The IRA assassinate RIC District Inspector Oswald Swanzy as he leaves church in Lisburn, and is implicated in the murder of Tomás MacCurtain in Cork in March. Swanzy had been at their own settlement without interference from their employers.

September 1920

c.8 September
A quantity of arms, ammunition and equipment is found in the Carrick Hill area of Belfast; it is considered by the authorities to be an important discovery, and is believed to include the items stolen from Ballycastle Police Station during the recent raid.

c.11 September
60 to 50 armed and masked men raid Torr Head Coastguard Station and carry off guns, ammunition and other equipment; it is reported that the leader was wearing an Irish Volunteer uniform.

24 September
The 9 a.m. train from Ballymoney to Ballycastle is held up by six men at Stranocum Station. The raiders proceed to select mail intended for the military and police at Armoy and Ballycastle; officials and passengers are held at gunpoint.

October 1920

25 October
Terence MacSwiney, Mayor of Cork, dies in an English jail after 74 days on hunger strike.

28 October
The Ballymoney Free Press reports that Dáil Éireann has sent an order (read at a recent meeting of Ballycastle Guardians) for a complete severance of relations with the English Local Government Board. Some of the members propose to comply, but the majority vote against it and the motion is lost.

October
The Increase of Rent & Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920 comes into operation.

November 1920

1 November
Kearney Barry, a Dublin student, is hanged for his part in the murder of RIC men.

1 November
Enrolment for an Ulster Special Constabulary officially begins. There are to be three categories: A Specials (full-time, paid); B Specials (part-time, unpaid); C Specials (reserves who could be called out in emergencies).

“We, in our turn, raided the homes of both Protestant and Catholic parents whose sons had joined, or were about to join, the Ulster Specials."

21 November
Michael Collins, Director of Intelligence of the IRA, dispatches members of his execution squad to assassinate a number of British intelligence agents in Dublin. Eleven agents, and two Auxiliaries who had attempted to intervene, are shot dead. That afternoon British forces (Auxiliaries & Black and Tans) retaliate by firing into the crowd at the Dublin-Tipperary Gaelic Football final in Croke Park, Dublin, killing 12 people and wounding an estimated 60 more. The day is known as ‘Bloody Sunday’.

KEY EVENTS

- October
  Ulster Special Constabulary established.
- 21 November
  ‘Bloody Sunday’ Dublin.
December 1920

c.6 December
A recruitment meeting for the Special Constabulary is held in Coleraine Town Hall. Over the following weeks meetings will be held in other local towns, including Portstewart, Ballymoney, Articlave, Garvagh and Portrush.

10 December
Lord French imposes martial law on Cork, Kerry, Limerick and Tipperary. It is later to be extended to Kilkenny, Clare, Wexford and Waterford on December 30.

11-12 December
Cork city centre is burnt by the Black and Tans & Auxiliaries, in retaliation for an IRA ambush on an Auxiliary patrol. Numerous buildings are destroyed, including the City Hall and Carnegie Free Library.

c.21 December
Louis Walsh, Sinn Féin, is taken into custody, along with a colleague, Mr. P. J. Agnew. They are observed passing through Coleraine on the way to Derry/Londonderry under escort. Louis Walsh would subsequently spend several months in Ballykinlar internment camp.

23 December
The Government of Ireland Act 1920 receives Royal Assent, providing for subordinate parliaments and administrations, one to be in Dublin and the other, for the six counties of the north, in Belfast.

23 December
Eamon de Valera returns to Ireland from his fund-raising tour in the U.S.A.

c.28 December
Shots are fired at police when they arrive to carry out a raid at a dance in Boleran Hall near Garvagh. Further shots are fired by police, when men standing around the hall run away and refuse to halt when ordered. A 16-year-old boy, Joseph Doherty, is shot and killed in the commotion.

December 1921

3 May
Temporary partition of Northern Ireland.

1920

23 December

1921

First Ulster Cabinet in 1921
From L to R: Sir Richard/Clooney Bates, Minister for Home Affairs; Charles Stewart Henry Vane-Tempest-Stewart, 7th Marquess of Londonderry, Secretary of State for Air; Sir James Craig, 1st Viscount Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland; Hugh MacDowell Pollock, Minister of Finance; Sir Edward Percy Anstey, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce; John Miller Andrews, Minister of Labour (Church/Harley Salisbury).

February 1921

4 February
Sir Edward Carson resigns as leader of the Ulster Unionists. Sir James Craig is elected by the Unionist Council to take his place.

c.16 February
Dr Anne Louise McIlroy, from Larne in Ballycastle, is appointed to the Chair of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, and to the Directorship of the Obstetric and Gynaecological Unit of the Royal Free Hospital, London School of Medicine.

c.19 February
A new hut and recreation grounds on William Street are opened for the Limavady Post of the Comrades of the Great War.

March 1921

12 March
Published advice on measures to take to avoid flu.

19 March
The Northern Constitution reports that Alexander Butler, from Ballycastle, has been court-martialled and sentenced to 18 months hard labour for possessing ballot papers in aid of Casement S.F. Club, and a membership card for the Irish Volunteers.

March
Catherine Anne Swetenham Trench of Greystone Hall, Limavady, is awarded an M.B.E. for her services throughout the War. She had collected funds for soldiers and prisoners of war, and had regularly dispatched parcels to them while abroad. She had also been secretary and treasurer of the British Prisoners of War Fund.

April 1921

c.Mid-April
A building strike begins when a reduction in wages is threatened. It appears to affect the Coleraine, Portrush, Portstewart, Ballymoney and Ballycastle districts. It continues for 10 weeks and is settled after the Building Trades Federation of Employers decide to continue paying existing wages for a 50 hour week.

May 1921

May
Louis J. Walsh is released from Ballykinlar internment camp. He and other imprisoned candidates had made a demand that they should be paroled to enable them to conduct their Northern Ireland election campaigns.

15 May
British Legion established. ©National Portrait Gallery

Dr Anne Louise McIlroy during her World War One service with Scottish Womens Hospital. Courtesy of Glasgow City Archives.
Robert Anderson (Unionist) and for Derry/Londonderry. Sir and one Sinn Féin are elected. Three Unionists, one Nationalist polling average of 85%.

In the Northern Ireland election 40 seats are won by Unionists, 6 by Nationalists and 6 by Sinn Féin. In 24 May 1921 Irish elections are held for the ‘Southern Ireland’ and ‘Northern Ireland’ Parliaments. No actual polling takes place for the Southern election, as all nominated candidates are uncontested (Results: Sinn Féin 124, Independent Unionist 4 (TCD)). Sinn Féin uses this election to establish the Second Dáil of the Irish Republic. In the Northern Ireland election 40 seats are won by Unionists, 6 by Nationalists and 6 by Sinn Féin. In 25 May 1921 order to avoid division over the sensitive issue of Partition, the Belfast Labour Party does not directly contest this election but rather supports four Independent candidates who fail to win any seats. Six Unionist candidates have won seats in Co. Antrim, and it is announced that a voting record has been created here, with a polling average of 85%.

Three Unionists, one Nationalist and one Sinn Féin are elected for Derry/Londonderry. Sir Robert Anderson (Unionist) and Eoin MacNeill (Sinn Féin) receive the highest number of votes, and a woman, Mrs Dehra Chichester (Unionist) from Castledawson, is also elected. An 80 year-old woman, Bessie Hunter, from Portstewart, dies on her way to the polling station at Agherton.

26 May 1921 Two policemen are shot at from behind a hedge while cycling to their barracks in Cloughmills. Special Constable Watson is injured in the arm, while Constable Walsh is hit in the leg.

June 1921

2 June 1921 Alexander Connor, a Sinn Féin member from Limavady, is shot dead while cycling along the road near Garvagh. The killing is believed to have been politically motivated.

7 June 1921 The House of Commons of Northern Ireland meets. A Cabinet is appointed under Sir James Craig as Prime Minister.

10 July 1921 Nationalists and Unionists die, and numerous properties are damaged or destroyed; in an outbreak of violence in Belfast. In retaliation for the IRA ambush of a police vehicle, Nationalist homes and businesses are burned by Unionists. Gun battles erupt between loyalist and republican groups, and between republicans and police. The day has been referred to as ‘Belfast’s Bloody Sunday’.

11 July 1921 A truce agreed between the IRA and the British Army on July 9, 1920, comes into effect at noon.

12 July 1921 De Valera travels to London to attend preliminary peace talks with Lloyd George on July 14. The terms offered by Lloyd George do not meet republican demands, however, de Valera agrees to discuss them with Dáil representatives in Dublin.

16 August 1921 Sinn Féin MPs who had been returned in the Southern Ireland election meet in the Mansion House, Dublin, as the second Dáil Éireann.

24 August 1921 The Londonderry Sentinel reports that IRA training camps have been established at various places in Ulster. One of these is at Torr Head, where there are 30-40 well-armed men.

End of Irish War of Independence/Anglo-Irish War.
September 1921

c.10 September
An orthopaedic clinic is opened in the Convalescent Hospital in Portrush. It is to be used to administer massage and electrical treatments to the discharged disabled soldiers of Co. Londonderry and North Antrim. Mrs Dehra Chichester MP performs the opening ceremony.

c.16 September
A dance is held to mark the opening of the new clubrooms for the Comrades of the Great War, in Coleraine. The official opening will take place within the next few weeks.

October 1921

6 October
A deputation from Co. Antrim, headed by Louis J. Walsh, visits the Mansion House in Dublin to protest against Partition. Eamon de Valera responds, saying that ‘...the unity of Ireland is as much entitled to be included with Southern Ireland as is County Donegal.

11 October
The British-Irish Conference opens in London. De Valera himself does not attend, but rather a group of representatives including Sinn Féin leader Arthur Griffith, and Michael Collins, Director of Intelligence for the IRA, to negotiate terms of a treaty with the British Government. These negotiations are to continue until December 6, 1921.

November 1921

10 November
The Ulster Memorial Tower is dedicated at Thiepval, France. Lieut. James Douglas, from Limavady, represents ‘the Derrys’ (10th Battalion Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers) at the unveiling ceremony.

December 1921

6 December
The Anglo-Irish Treaty is signed in London. Not all members of Sinn Féin are happy with the outcome and a rift ensues.

12 December
A debate on the Treaty terms begins in Dáil Éireann.

January 1922

7 January
Anglo-Irish Treaty narrowly ratified in Dublin.

17 January
Coleraine gas workers strike in protest against the proposal to reduce wages by 12½%. A settlement is reached quickly and work resumes.

9 January
Arthur Griffith is elected President of Dáil Éireann, succeeding de Valera.

10 January
Coleraine tailors inform the press that they have been locked out by their employers for refusing to accept a 33½% reduction in wages. The strike is settled by the beginning of February when a 12½% wage reduction is accepted.

14 January
A Provisional Government is set up to administer the handover from British rule to the new Irish Free State (de Valera, Brugha and Stack have resigned over acceptance of the Treaty).

16 January
Provisional government formally takes control of Dublin Castle from the British.

21 January
A meeting between Michael Collins and Sir James Craig begins in London. An agreement is signed but this breaks down within a short time.

February 1922

12-15 February
Violence erupts in Belfast resulting in a number of deaths.

March 1922

2 March
The Limavady War Memorial Institute is opened by Major-General Sir Oliver Nugent.

4 March
A report that the ‘flu has appeared again in Aghadowey and many are confined to bed.

7 March
A War Memorial obelisk is unveiled at Aghadowey. ‘...the unity of Ireland is as much entitled to be included with Southern Ireland as is County Donegal.’

18 March
Siege of Colleraine by members of the IRA, who redirect it to Tipperary and burn the wagons carrying the Antrim goods. This is executed as part of the Ulster/Belfast Boycott.

31 March
The Irish Free State (Agreement) Act is passed.
A sensational incident occurred late on Wednesday night about 11.00 p.m. and 5.00 a.m. An anti-Treaty force of irregulars seized Four Courts, Dublin, and established a military headquarters.

April/May 1922

A number of properties are fired and destroyed, particularly in the Dungiven area. Two garages are destroyed there in April, and a bar/shop and flax mill in May. People in Dungiven desert their houses in the town at night to stay with friends in the country.

May 1922

c.6 May

A school teacher, John Carolan, and his nephew, Mr Kilmartin, are taken from their beds in Cluertygeragh, near Dungiven, by six armed men and shot. They are thrown into a hole. Mr Carolan dies almost immediately, but Mr Kilmartin manages to make his way to a neighbour’s house. He later dies as a result of his injuries.

c.20 May

An attempt to attack the police barracks in Ballycastle is thwarted by Ballymoney constables while returning home from a patrol. A gun battle takes place between police and the attackers, and the latter are driven back. A 50lb bomb is discovered, as well as boxes of Mills bombs intended for use against the police.

c.21 May

The houses of loyalists are attacked in Cloughmills, and several of the roofs blown off by a bomb.

c.22 May

William J. Twaddell, Unionist MP, is shot dead as he walks to his business premises in Belfast. His murder causes a sensation and leads to a crack-down on the IRA in Northern Ireland. In the follow-up to this, many raids are made by the police and military across the Six Counties, with a large number of arrests. Mr Twaddell’s death is deeply regretted in Ballymoney, as being present at the shootings, he is well-known. Anumber of arrests.

C.23 May

An attempt is made by IRA members to burn Carron Tower, Co. Antrim. Fires had been placed at nine different points around the building, and an annexe is also fired, but damage is minimised by the swift action of the servants who work to extinguish the flames.

31 May

A Curfew Order comes into operation across the Six Counties at 11.00 p.m. From this time anyone without a permit must remain indoors between the hours of 11.00 p.m. and 5.00 a.m.

June 1922

1 June

The Royal Ulster Constabulary is established to replace the RIC in Northern Ireland. Constable Sturgeon has been promoted to sergeant in the new police force, and transferred to Castlerock.

8 June

Archie McCann, a Cloughmills farmer, and his nephew John, are taken from their beds and shot by three armed men. Mr McCann is killed but his nephew survives and testifies in the investigation. Two ‘B’ Specials are detained initially, but although John McCann identifies one of them as being present at the shootings, there are ultimately no convictions.

16 June

A General Election is held in the Irish Free State. Pro-Treaty Sinn Féin win by a large majority.

22 June

Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson (a Unionist MP and government adviser) is assassinated by the IRA in London.

c.23 June

Three Catholics are shot dead and two are wounded shortly after Crown Forces enter Cushendall. The incident generates much outrage and controversy, and accounts of the events differ. According to the official report the Crown Forces were ambushed and after an exchange of fire, the victims were found dead. Local residents maintain that there was no ambush and that the Specials opened fire on a group of men as the order was given for them to clear the streets.
June 28
An attack is made on the Irregular Forces garrison in the Four Courts, Dublin, by the Provisional Government forces. The Irish Civil War begins. By the time it ended in May 1923 there were over 77 executions and 11,400 detentions under the Public Safety Act introduced by the Irish Free State in response to the violence.

August 1922
12 August
Arthur Griffith, President of Dáil Éireann, dies.

22 August
Michael Collins is killed in an ambush at Béal na Bláth, Co. Cork.

September 1922
C.3 September
A patrol of ‘B’ Specials are fired on from behind a wall on the Benvarden Road near Dervock. The alarm is raised from Benvarden House and reinforcements arrive, surrounding the house. After a three hour gun battle, a constable is slightly injured but no loss of life is reported.

9 September
William Cosgrave is elected President of the Provisional Government (Irish Free State).

October 1922
23 October
After Conservative MPs have voted to end the Coalition Government, Andrew Bonar Law becomes leader of the British Conservative Party and replaces David Lloyd George as Prime Minister.

November 1922
11 November
War Memorials are unveiled at Coleraine and Portrush. Sir James and Lady Craig attend both events and Sir James performs the unveiling ceremony at Coleraine. Lady McNeaghten unveils the Portrush memorial.

15 November
A General Election is held in the United Kingdom. The Conservatives, under the leadership of Andrew Bonar Law, gain an overall majority.

25 November
While on duty at RUC platoon headquarters in Ballycastle, Special Constable Robinson is shot at and returns fire. He receives an eye injury during the exchange. The assailant escapes.

December 1922
C.2 December
As part of a tour of Northern Ireland Sir James and Lady Craig visit Coleraine, Kilrea and Limavady. Sir James inspects 600 RUC men from the Coleraine District, RUC and ‘B’ Specials from the Limavady District, and 373 ‘B’ Specials at Kilrea.

5 December
The Irish Free State Constitution Act (UK) receives Royal Assent and formally ratifies the constitution as approved by the Dáil (on October 25).

16 December
A new War Pensions Committee is established under the War Pensions Act (1921). Ulster is to form one area under the control of a committee of 25 members. The existing local war pensions committees are abolished, although the NI Minister of Pensions hopes that their assistance will continue.

Acknowledgements
Causeway Coast and Glens Borough Council wishes to thank the generosity of local people and other heritage organisations for their assistance with images and information including: Balliborough Historical Society, Down County Museum, Hugh Lane Gallery, National Galleries Scotland, Oireachtas, The Scotti Rooms. A Harper, R Heslop, S Mac Nocaill, R McConkey, H McGrattan, J G R McMullan, N McNeary, P Thompson and to the many local families who have contributed to our museum collections.
SOURCES

LOCAL NEWSPAPERS

Ballymoney Free Press (BFP). Founded in 1863 this newspaper ran weekly until 1934 when it was incorporated with the Coleraine Chronicle.

Belfast Newsletter (BNL). Published from 1737 until the present day; in 1855 it became daily.

Coleraine Chronicle (CC). Published weekly from 1844 until the present day.

Derry Journal (DJ). Published (tri-weekly) from 1772 until the present day. Prior to 1880 it was known as the Londonderry Journal.

(Weekly) Freeman’s Journal (FJ) Founded in 1763 by Charles Lucas, this became a leading Irish newspaper based in Dublin. Publication was suspended temporarily when its printing equipment was destroyed by Anti-Treaty IRA members in the lead-up to the Irish Civil War, and ended when it merged with the Irish Independent in 1924.

Londonderry Sentinel (LS). Published from 1829 until the present day. It ran bi-weekly until 1879 when it became tri-weekly.

Northern Constitution (NC) Published from 1875 until the present day. Prior to 1908 this newspaper was known as the Coleraine Constitution.

Northern Whig (NW) First published in 1832 and issued twice weekly until 1849 when it increased to three issues per week. From 1859 until it ceased publication in 1963 it was issued daily. Between 1919 and 1957 it was known as the Northern Whig and Belfast Post.

OTHER SOURCES

• M Colman (2014) The Irish Revolution 1916–1923. (Rutledge)
• C Falls (1922) The History of the Ulster Division (The Linen Hall Press, Belfast)
• G Greenlee, G Lucy, W Roulston (2016) Thomas Sinclair ‘Ulster’s Most Prominent Citizen’ (Ulster-Scots Agency and the Ulster Historical Foundation)
• Sir A Hazlet (1973) The ‘B’ Specials: A History of the Ulster Special Constabulary (Tom Stacey)
• History Ireland (https://www.historyireland.com)
• Irish Bureau of Military History
• J P Swift (1991) An Irish Dissident (Gill and Macmillan)
• The National Archives: http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/
• R Thompson (2001) Portrush Heroes 1914–1918 (Coleraine Printing Company)
• W A Wilson (2017) Short History of Rent Control, Briefing Paper No. 6747, House of Commons Library
• W B Yeats (2010) I am of Ireland (M.H. Gill & Company U. C.)
Partition in Ireland: Partition of Ulster